Using Kurrent Kupferstich.

Kurrent Kupferstich makes extensive use of special characters to improve its appearance on paper. We found it most practicable to type the desired text first in any regular font, then change the font to Kurrent Kupferstich. Change or insert special Characters where applicable to improve the appearance of your text. You can use the Find/ Replace command in your word processing software to make most of the corrections. English or other foreign words occurring in a German text should be written in a latin script font.

Special Characters

The following is a list of special characters. Some are assigned to certain keys, others require the use of the ASCII code system. To generate a letter, hold down the ALT-key on your keyboard and key in the four-digit code using the number pad (make sure NUMLOCK is switched on) Thus ALT + 0252 results in "ü." The ending-s is used at the end of syllables and whole words. The use of double-m and double-n characters is optional. The free joint can be used to improve the spacing between characters where necessary. Kurrent Kupferstich looks best when printed in sizes above 50 points.

Ludwig Ganghofer = Das Kasemannndl

Zur Sommerzeit mag es kaum ein schönerer Flecklein für gaben als das Kopfwechselfof.
Manu siner aus dem Tal, in dem das Dorf gelegen ist,
durch den steilen, dunklen Bergwald drei Stunden fern steigt, dann sieht er glückselig
die Lärche zu furchen gehen,
sieht das Berggänger sich
halten sind in zwei ragen Felswänden einander an.
Und vor seinen Augen öffnet
sich ein weites, herrliches Geftal. Wie grüner Tannat
läuft die Wälder, auf dem
Felsen stehen die gelben
Aster im sanften Wind.

Johann Wolfgang Goethe = Der Erlkönig

Was wartet so spät durch Nacht und Wind?
Es ist der Vater mit seinem Kind;
Er hat den Knaben wohl in dem Arm,
Er fasst ihn sicher, er hält ihn warm.

Mein Kopf, was birgst du so bang dein
Gesicht? -

Küßt Vater, du den Erlkönig nicht?
Der Erlkönig mit Kron undzepter?
Mein Kopf, es ist ein Nebelweh.

„Du lieber Kind, komm, geh mit mir!
Geh schnell die Wälder durch mit mir;
Manch bunte Blume find an dem Rand,
Mein Mutter hat manch gülden Gewand.“

Kurrent Kupferstich
A German Script
True Emma

Kurrent Kupferstich is an original 19th century German calligraphic handwriting font. It has been designed with great care to provide the most authentic "handwritten" look possible.

The original handwriting was used for official documents and special occasions - you can use it for sophisticated invitations or announcements, for correspondence, or to print poetry.

Kurrent Kupferstich also makes a perfect learning tool for all genealogists who need to study old German documents. Simply print a familiar text with this font and practice your reading skills.
